2 HOW COUNCIL'S FUNCTIONS AFFECT MEMBERS OF THE PUBLIC

The following is an outline of how the broad functions of Council affect the public.

Service functions affect members of the public as Council provides services and facilities to the public. These include provision of human services such as childcare and libraries, infrastructure and waste removal, halls and recreation facilities.

Regulatory functions place restrictions on developments and buildings to ensure that they meet certain requirements affecting the amenity of the community and not endanger the lives and safety of any person. Members of the public must be aware of, and comply with, such regulations.

Ancillary functions affect only some members of the public. These functions include, for example, the resumption of land or the power for Council to enter onto a person's land. In these circumstances, only the owner of the property would be affected.

Revenue functions affect the public directly in that revenue from rates and other charges paid by the public are used to fund services and facilities provided to the community.

Administrative functions do not necessarily affect the public directly but have an indirect impact on the community through the efficiency and effectiveness of the services provided.

Enforcement functions only affect those members of the public who are in breach of certain legislation. This includes matters such as the non-payment of rates and charges or failure to register a dog.

Community planning and development functions affect areas such as cultural development, social planning and community profile and involves advocating and planning for the needs of our community. Providing support to community and organisations through provision of grants, training and information.

3 PUBLIC PARTICIPATION IN LOCAL GOVERNMENT

Council supports the principles of open government and encourages community involvement in policy development and general activities of Council.

There are two ways in which the public may participate in policy development and the general activities of the Council: representation and personal participation.

Representation

The community elects representatives to their local Council to make decisions on their behalf. In New South Wales, local government elections are held every four years. i

Residents are able to raise issues with and make representations to the elected members of Council. The Councillors may pursue the matter on the resident's behalf, allowing members of the public to influence the development of policy. Individual Councillor contact information is available on Council's website at www.svc.nsw.gov.au/meet-your-councillors.

Council meetings are held monthly either by video link or at Council Chambers, located in Tumbarumba and Tumut. These meetings are open to members of the public. Prior to meetings, the opportunity is offered to interested persons to address Council as per Council's Code of Meeting Practice.

Council meetings are also livestreamed via Council's YouTube site:

www.youtube.com/c/snowyvalleyscouncil.

Personal Participation

Council meetings are open to the public and offer an opportunity to ask questions of Council at the start or before each meeting; in some cases, such interactions may influence the development of policy.

Members of the public may also become involved in Council Committees providing another means by which the public may influence the development of policy and decision making.

Council's Community Engagement Strategy and Policy outlines the channels the public can access to become involved and participate in the formulation of policy for Snowy Valleys Council.

Council's website www.svc.nsw.gov.au is regularly updated with notifications and information on Council's activities, meeting agendas and business papers. Snowy Valleys Council also publishes notices and exhibitions, tenders, news items, events and many Council documents and reports on its website. The website is reviewed and updated on a regular basis to ensure information is accurate and timely. Information on Council activities, decisions and programs are also published in the local newspaper and on Council's Facebook page.

All Council's significant plans, strategies and policies relating to the community are placed on exhibition in draft form to allow interested members of the public to view them and provide comments (where relevant). Exhibition documents are available at Council's Customer Service Centres, libraries and on Council's website.

5 ACCESSING COUNCIL INFORMATION

There are four (4) ways to access Council information under the Government Information (Public Access) Act 2009 (GIPA Act).

Open Access Information

Members of the public may inspect, during ordinary office hours, free of charge, the documents listed in section 18 of the GIPA Act and the documents listed in Schedule 1 of the GIPA Regulation 2018.

Documents required to be available for public inspection as open access information will, where practicable, be made available on Council's website, unless to do so would impose unreasonable additional costs to Council. Copies of such documents may be provided for a charge not exceeding reasonable photocopying costs.

Council is not required to make government information available in any way that would constitute a breach of copyright.

Proactive Release

Council can make an executive decision to release extra information that is not covered by the mandatory provision and that is not already publicly available, free of charge. Council must review the information they release proactively at least every twelve months.

Informal Application

Informal applications allow the public to request information without the need of a formal application and may be inspected free of charge, however, copies of documents may incur charges that are set out in the Council's Fees and Charges.

It should be noted that this form of access does not allow for the applicant to seek any type of review of their determination. An informal application may be submitted by completing an Access to Information Application and submitting it electronically to info@svc.nsw.gov.au or in person at one of Councils' Customer Service Centres. The Informal Access Application is available on Council's website or by contacting Council.

Where possible, Council will process Informal Applications under the GIPA Act and will respond to such requests within twenty (20) working days.

Formal Application

If a request for information involves a large volume of information, extensive research is required or if the information relates to third party personal/business information, Council will require the lodgement of a Formal Access to Information application.

Section 41 of the GIPA Act lists the requirements for making a valid Formal Access application:

- It must be in writing (using Council's Formal GIPA Access Application Form).
- It must clearly indicate that it is an access application made under the GIPA Act.

- It must be accompanied by an application fee of $30.00 payable at the time of lodgement.
- It must provide a postal address in Australia as the address for correspondence.
- It must include such information as is reasonably necessary to enable the government information to be identified.

If a formal access application is made for personal information about the applicant (the applicant being an individual) the first 20 hours of processing time is free. An applicant is entitled to a 50% reduction in processing charges if the applicant provides evidence that the applicant is:

- a) the holder of a Pensioner Concession card issued by the Commonwealth that is in force;
- b) a full-time student; or
- c) a non-profit organisation.

Upon receipt of a formal application, Council must acknowledge receipt of the application and accept or reject the application within 5 working days.

Applications must be determined within twenty (20) working days (a statutory requirement under section 57(1) of the GIPA Act) after receipt of the application. This decision period may be extended by 10-15 working days where consultation with a third party is required or to retrieve information from Council's archives (section 57(2) of the GIPA Act).

If the application is invalid and does not contain enough information to process the application, Council employees determining the application must assist the applicant to enable a valid application.

6 RESTRICTIONS ON ACCESS TO INFORMATION

Providing access to government information is restricted only when there is an overriding public interest against disclosure. Schedule 1 of the GIPA Act lists the conclusive considerations against disclosure. In addition, section 14 of the GIPA Act lists the discretionary considerations against disclosure.

Copyright

Copyright issues may arise when requests are made for copies of documents held by Council. The Commonwealth Copyright Act 1968 takes precedence over NSW legislation and therefore, the right to copy documents under the GIPA Act does not override the Copyright Act. Nothing in the GIPA Act or associated Regulation permits Council to make government information available in any way that would constitute an infringement of copyright.

Access to copyright-protected documents will be granted by way of inspection only, unless the copyright owner's written consent is provided. Where authority is unable to be obtained, copies of copyright material will not be provided.

Copyright materials include, but are not limited to: plans / drawings, consultant's reports and survey reports.

Third Party Consultation

Third party consultation must be undertaken when the Application to access information includes:

- personal information about a person; or
- information that concerns a person's business, commercial, professional or financial

- interest; or
- information that concerns research that has been, is being, or is intended to be carried out by or on behalf of the person; or
- information that concerns the affairs of a government of the Commonwealth or other State (and the person is that government).

If the third-party objects to the release of their information, they must show evidence consistent with the GIPA Act as to why to restrict the release of information. The evidence provided by the third party will be considered, however, the decision to release information rests with Council.

Personal and Private Information

In some cases, requests are made to Council for contact details of individuals or businesses that fall within Council's local government area.

Personal information collected and held by Council is protected by the provisions set out in the Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1988 and the Health Records and Information Privacy Act 2002. Under the principles of these pieces of legislation, there are limits on disclosure of personal information.

There is no intention by Council to depart from the requirements of these principles, other than by what is permitted by the legislation.

7 RIGHTS OF REVIEW AND APPEAL

A right of review exists only for formal applications made in accordance with the GIPA Act. No right of review exists for informal applications.

If an applicant has lodged a formal application and is aggrieved by a decision of Council, that person is entitled to a review of the decision in any of the following methods:

Internal Review by Council

An internal review by a Council officer more senior than the original decision maker. Applicants have 20 working days from receiving a notice of a decision to ask for a review, and a fee is payable by the applicant as per Council's Fees and Charges.

An internal review is not available to the applicant if the initial decision was made by Council's delegated principal officer. However, an external review can be requested. A decision of the internal review must be made within 15 working days and 25 working days if consultation is required.

External Review by Information Commissioner

The applicant has 40 working days from receiving a notice of a decision to ask for a review by the Information Commissioner.

The Information Commissioner will consider the application and the onus is on Council to justify the decision. The Information Commissioner can make a recommendation for reconsideration of the matter by Council and/or refer the matter to NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal.

External Review by NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal (NCAT)

A request for external review by the NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal (NCAT) must be made by the applicant within 40 working days following the date of receipt of the notice of decision from Council.

If the decision is the subject of review by the Information Commissioner, an application for NCAT review can be made at any time up to 20 working days after the applicant is notified of the completion of the Information Commissioner's review.

The onus is again on Council to justify its decision.

8 CONTACTING COUNCIL

As far as practicable, government information held by Council will be assessable by members of the public during office hours. Any amendment of records held by Council will be undertaken pursuant to the provisions of the Privacy and Personal Information Protection Act 1998. Persons interested in obtaining access to government information or who wish to seek an amendment to the Council's records concerning their personal affairs, should contact a Customer Service Officer. If you experience difficulty in obtaining government information, you should contact Council's Public Officer.

Council's Public Officer and Right to Information Officer

Council's Executive Chief of Staff has been appointed as the Public Officer and the Right to Information Officer for Snowy Valleys Council. Among other duties, the Public Officer may deal with requests from the public concerning Council's affairs and to accept delivery of documents on behalf of the Council.

The Right to Information Officer is responsible for determining applications for access to government information or for the amendment of records. If you have any difficulty in obtaining access to government information, you may wish to refer your enquiry to the Right to Information Officer.
